Table Grace

Remind us this day, Lord, that truth is not meant to be an end in itself. Truth is in order to goodness.

Keep us from absorbing information and inspiration here without action and use us in Rotary as instruments to make this a better world.

So strengthen us by the blessings of this hour to this end and we will give you our thanksgiving. Amen.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick E. Christian

Last Week's Speaker: Megan Bucknum By Joy Charlton

Megan Bucknum described how Philly CowShare operates as a local distributor for whole animal, open-range, grass-fed beef. They contract to buy whole cows from five regional farms, and work with a single butcher in Lancaster who "harvests" ethically and packages the meat, which is then delivered directly to buyers in "shares." A $1/8^{th}$ share equals 43 lbs., in various cuts. Shares can also be $\frac{1}{4}$, $\frac{1}{2}$, or whole, and can be bought individually or by a group. This contrasts with current conventional methods of adding bulk to cows by feeding them grains in over-crowded feedlots, giving antibiotics and hormones to the animals, co-mingling the meat from multiple animals before packaging, and single sales.

Philly CowShare, then, is the old-fashioned way of distributing beef to consumers, with added convenience, health benefits, and a commitment to community by supporting both local farmers and urban consumers. Beef may be ordered online at phillycowshares.com.

Four Way Test:

Of the things we think, say and do;

- 1. Is it the Truth?
- 2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
- 3. Will it build GOOD WILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
- 4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

Clean Up Day Update from Ann Seidman

The May 18 Delaware County Literacy Council Clean Up Day has been cancelled. The Grass Man who takes care of mowing the lawn surprised the DCLC by sprucing up the grounds, pruning, mulching, and planting new shrubs around the big sign out front – for free! That doesn't leave enough work for us to do this Saturday morning. Thanks to all of you who had signed up. Maybe we'll help with a Fall Clean Up.

Rotarians take part in Immunization Days in Côte d'Ivoire

Rotarians in Côte d'Ivoire took part in National Immunization Days (NIDs) beginning 26 April. They joined thousands of health workers and volunteers in mobilizing public support, ensuring the safe delivery of the oral polio vaccine, and administering the life-saving drops to more than 3 million children. The nation's last case of polio occurred in July 2011. The NIDs also provided vitamin A supplements and de-worming tablets to children to expand public health benefits, which is another objective of the new polio endgame strategic plan.

In the face of danger by Megan Ferringer, in May 2013 The Rotarian

In 1998, thousands of families in Sierra Leone fled their homes as the Revolutionary United Front executed its campaign of terror against civilians.

Despite the chaos, health workers and volunteers carried out National Immunization Days as planned. Polio immunization teams searched for refugees along the nation's roadways and in the jungles. Risking their lives as heavy artillery resonated nearby, they continued on, determined to provide lifesaving drops of vaccine to every child they could find. Today, Sierra Leone is polio-free.

Because of the sacrifices of those who have participated in the global immunization effort, including hundreds of thousands of Rotarians, polio is on the brink of extinction. Teams have conquered the disease in war-ravaged countries and in regions grappling with political unrest. Only Afghanistan, Nigeria, and Pakistan remain polio-endemic.

But obstacles persist in the final battle for worldwide eradication, and the disease has proved to be a complicated, contentious foe. Misinformation and rumors of conspiracy continue to sweep through some areas, as vicious and nimble as the virus itself. The small drops of vaccine, administered to save children's lives, become a source of fear, and as suspicion and hostility grow, immunizers can become targets.
